27 Years Average Experience of Staff

We are a team of ALL senior-level design, engineering, and marketing experts with an average of 27 years of experience. Our competitors only offer engineering and prototyping services and focus on short-term profitability. This results in using the lowest cost resources possible and billing as many hours as possible.

- Most firms use mostly mid-level and junior-level engineers
- Junior-level engineers are learning on your project with more mistakes
- Excessive labor and material overages are on you
- An incentive to bill as many hours as possible to maximize profitability

- Frequent use of interns working for free and billed at the standard rate
- Only more prominent companies/brands get the top talent

So who do you want to work on your new product?

Since Rabbit only employs ALL senior-level staff, every customer gets the same world-class expertise. Experienced staff will result in lower overall product development and production costs, fewer iterations in prototyping, minimal problems in manufacturing, shorter time to market, and, once the product is launched, the greatest profitability.

How We Differ From Competition

We are the only true End-To-End product design firm, and you can compare options in the chart below. When we design your product, we also analyze patentability, engineering, manufacturing and marketing, and sales channels. We have one overriding goal: your success in the marketplace at sustainable, scalable margins. And that is precisely what we will deliver for you.

1. Invention Company – offer animations and claim to find companies to license ideas, but most have a success rate below .002%
2. Individual Freelancer – lower cost per hour, but it will cost you long-term in product quality, delayed product launch, quit on you when things get complicated, or a better gig comes around.

3. Low-Cost Prototype Shop – most will deliver a prototype to meet the contract's obligations. Still, it may not be manufacturable, cost-effective, or even sellable at the end of the day.
4. Design Firm – most are focused on short-term profitability, use mostly junior-level staff, and try to bill as many hours as possible. Product quality suffers, and you pay more than you need to.
5. Rabbit Product Design – the only trustworthy end-to-end design firm that employs ONLY senior-level resources. You get the best value of quality vs. cost.

PLEASE READ CAREFULLY BEFORE SIGNING THE CONTRACT:

☒ Checking this box confirms that you understand this is a Time and Materials hourly contract. You will be billed for each hour worked and for all materials purchased related to your project or to validate the design. If Rabbit expects to exceed the initial retainer, we will do our best to notify you in advance. Due to the fast nature of product development, this is not guaranteed and we sometimes will exceed the budget before you are notified. An additional retainer payment may be required in advance before work continues.

You understand product development activities come with some level of risk. We are here to help you to mitigate some of those risks, but no one can mitigate all the risks. Nothing in product development is guaranteed. By developing a product, you are also accepting to take on some level of risk with unknowns which are described in bullet points below

- The estimate is for the first iteration only.
- Most products will require more than 1 iteration and, in some cases, multiple. So do not expect the first one to work perfectly or at all.
- Each iteration will incur additional labor and material costs, whether a change you requested, a recommendation by one of Rabbit's designers or engineers, or even a mistake made by one of Rabbit's designers or engineers as this is part of the product development process.
- Prototype processes and materials are often different from production. Therefore, do not expect the test sample to function perfectly. We will do what is necessary to validate the design, but we will need to use production processes and materials to validate the product fully.
- A fully working prototype does not guarantee issue-free manufacturing. Final optimization of the design for manufacturing sometimes requires collaboration with the chosen manufacturing partner.
- Shipping costs are not included in the estimates. You are responsible for paying all shipping costs.
